“So if you go from nowhere on the road to somewhere . . .

Broadway High School
Broadway, Virginia
Volume 28

And you meet anyone . . .

You'll know
it's me!"

Sometime in the 1800's in the hills of Colorado an old prospector plucked from a stream an abandoned baby girl in a basket. He cared for her and she grew up to be a tomboy who married a man who was also a prospector. They discovered a silver mine that proved to be one of the richest mother lodes of silver ever found in the West. Being very wealthy, the couple decided to leave their mountain cabin and invade the society of Denver . . .

Because of her background the elite Denver society rejected them, and they were very lonely and depressed. To forget their unhappiness they decided to tour Europe. The husband returned first, and Molly booked passage on the maiden voyage of the Titanic; she was one of the few survivors. Denver society welcomed her as a heroine. She became known as . . .

The Unsinkable
Molly
Brown!

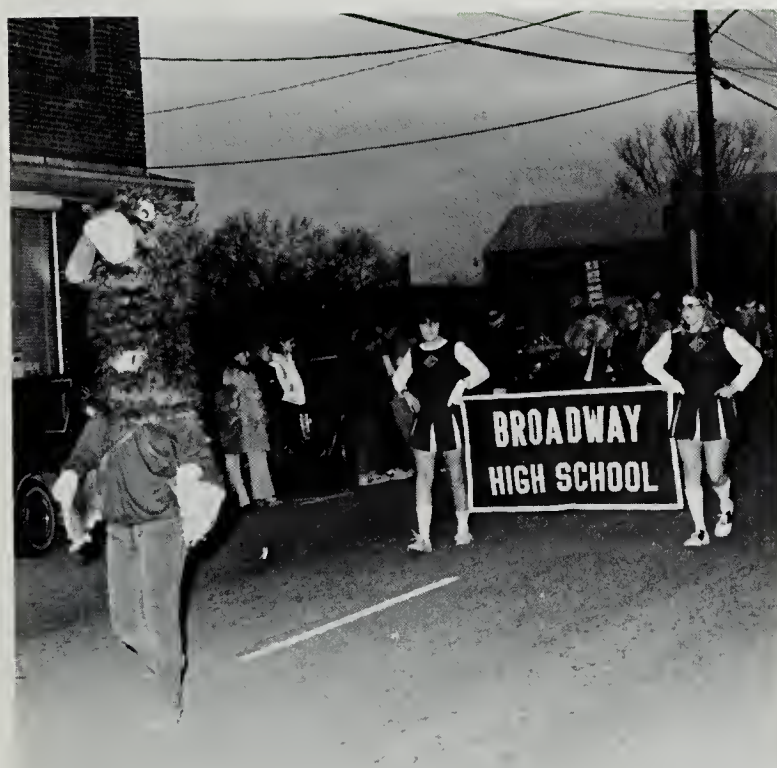

Sometime in the early 1950's a new high school was built in Broadway, Virginia. Through the years the school acquired a two-fold reputation, one as a fearsome opponent in sports, especially football and basketball. There were championships won in these sports as well as in others, "mother lodes" of a sort. The other part of Broadway's reputation went something to the effect of "those farmers from Broadway."

Because of its size Broadway eventually had to move into the Valley District, a select society of mostly city schools. Just as Molly Brown was unfairly judged by her background, Broadway began to be judged by its sports teams, which were having a tough time competing in the new district. There were new lows for a once proud school. School spirit all but disappeared. The most frequently asked question became, "What's wrong with Broadway?" This led to everyone's believing that something was really wrong.

Well, just as Molly Brown survived the Titanic's sinking, Broadway High has survived its own sinking spirits; and just as Molly Brown sang in her darkest moments to boost her spirits, Broadway High sings with her these words:

“I’m goan’ to learn

to read and write,

I'm going to see what there is to see . . .

You'll see me carried shoulder high . . .

By famous people I've never met

But 'til
I leave the rear

It's from the rear you'll hear . . .

. . . I ain't down yet!"

SHENANDOAH MAKES THE FIRE GRATE THAT MAKES THE FIRE GREAT.

The average fireplace wastes ninety percent of its energy because the heat goes up the chimney instead of into the room. With the Shenandoah Fire Grate, three times as much heat is saved, so your fuel dollar goes three times as far. And can it take the heat! Shenandoah builds it tough to last longer and work better.

Epilogue

"We three kings of Broadway are . . ."

Did you see that student with all the teeth? "Now on the count of three . . ."

Busch Gardens here we come!

Ms. McGinn always did have a sneaky look.

Mary, Mary, how does your garden grow?

"Listen, Snookums . . ."

"I never knew pep rallies could be so much fun."

"Not bad, not bad at all."

J.D. Dove, Toni McDaniel are seniors Most Musical.

It's a ghost, It's a teacher, it's Ms. Driver.

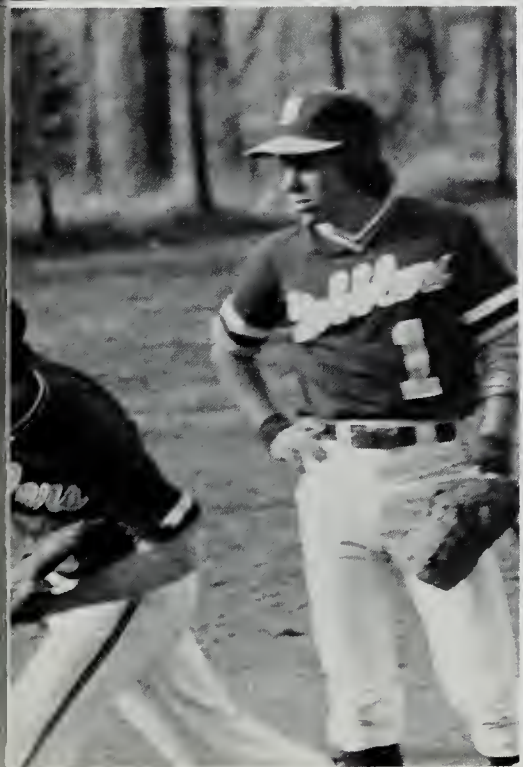

"I think it's going to snow."

Ronald is trying to get in plenty of practice.

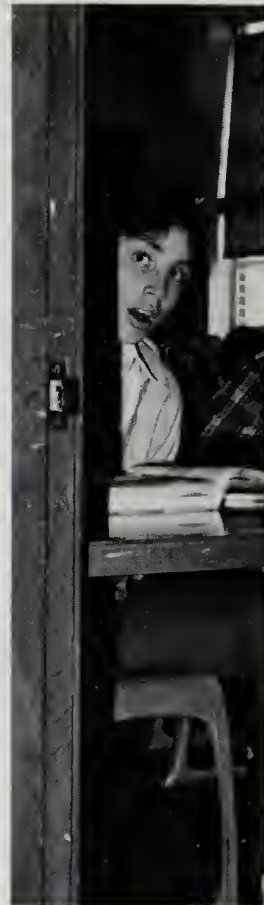

"Hey, kids, you forgot your tobaggan."

"I just love my new doll."

"Me, study?!?"

"Psst, did you know that Karin . . ."

Ski patrollers aren't supposed to be cold.

Are you a thorn or a rose, Mr. Myers?

We planted too many hands.

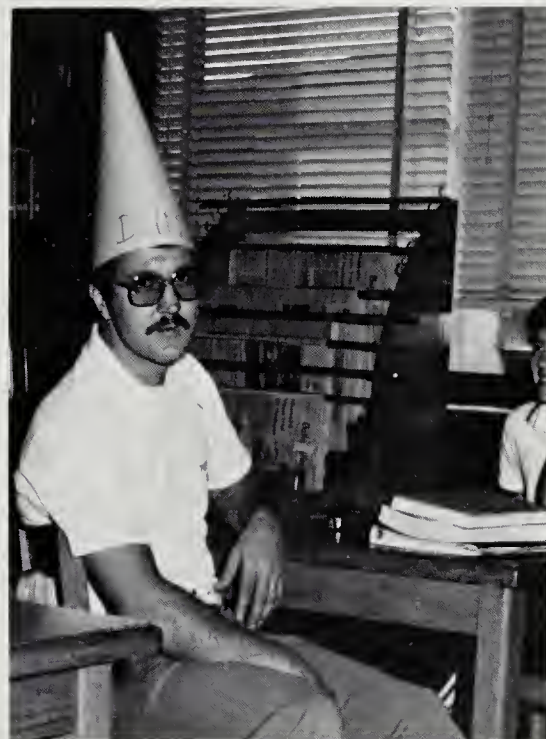

Once upon a time there was a giant tuba . . .

"I'm glad hats are back in style."

We're glad to have you here Thien and Tuan Huy.

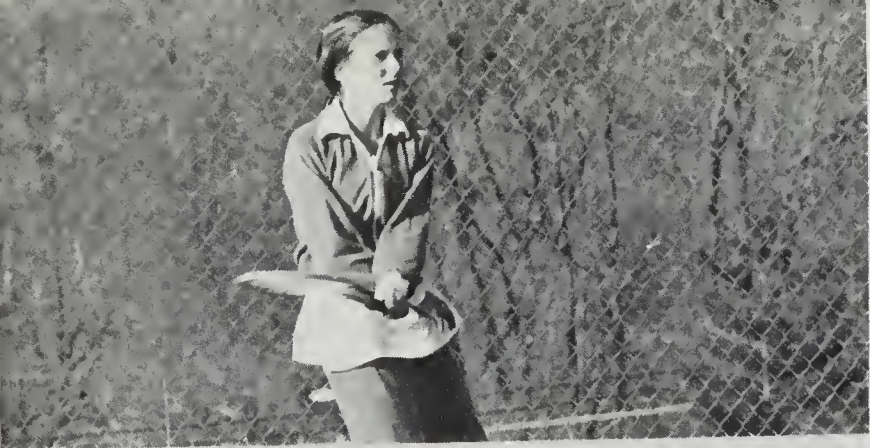

"Don't make me sit in the corner."

"I don't kiss on the first date."

"I always smile before pulling the trigger."

As the staff of Memories 1980, we have devoted approximately 2,156 hours to the production of this yearbook. Besides having five nervous breakdowns, we have suffered from lack of sleep and claustrophobia -- the yearbook room gets smaller every day. And as a result of munching-out, we gained fifty pounds, (not to mention the stock we now own in Broadway Restaurant for the investment it took to buy 163½ subs.) Through all of this, we have tried to make Memories 1980 a unique BHS yearbook while upholding the quality of past ones. Through the theme "We Ain't Down Yet," we hope to have portrayed accurately the spirit now at Broadway High School.

We would like to thank Mr. Gresham for his cooperation with our staff, especially during the snow days when we came to work and gave him grief. Mrs. Junkhouser also deserves a lot of thanks for being an excellent advisor to our staff. Because of her patience and understanding, things have gone much smoother. Whatever sacrifices we have made, (especially missing our soap operas on days off from school), will be worth the efforts, if you, the student body of BHS enjoy the memories that we have constructed. It is our hope that you will also spend 2,156 hours with this special book in the future and remember all of those memories that have made 1980 an exceptional good year!!!
